NEWS FROM THE GOLF PROFESSIONAL BRENT SPRINGER

I know we are all ready for warmer weather, aren't we? So, while we sit here counting the minutes, I thought I might clear up a common misconception about handicaps. Many times, someone will come into the golf shop and ask what set of tees they will be playing in one of our tournaments. For this example, let's say that I reply Blue Tees. "Well, that's not going to work for me because my handicap is established from the White tees." Well, when you turn a score in after a round, and we input it, the course rating and slope for the tees you played is factored in to produce your 'handicap differential' for that round. These differentials are then averaged to give you a handicap index. And finally, before you tee off in a tournament, your index is converted into the handicap you will use for whatever tee you will be playing. This way, you are always getting a fair shake, whatever the tee you are playing.

SEE YOU AT THE CLUB!
